AARHUS VOLUNTEER FESTIVAL

A buzzing festival in the Aarhus City Centre
September 21st-23rd 2018

Organisations, researchers, businesses, politicians, international guests and citizens are invited to join the Aarhus Volunteer Festival. Our goal is to celebrate, debate and share the many volunteering communities and initiatives that make a world of difference.

Our ambition is to include around 20,000 participants during the weekend in various locations in the city of Aarhus. There will be main stages and meeting points. The audience events include performances, talks, workshops and debates.

With Aarhus Volunteer Festival, we will strengthen the public debate and democratic discussion and create a space for dialogue. We want to share knowledge on recruiting and maintaining motivation in volunteering, and find ways to face the challenges in collaboration across sectors.

A NEW BEGINNING

International conferences
December 3rd-5th 2018

December 3rd-4th

International Field Conference: Volunteerism, Local & Global

Ringkøbing-Skjern Municipality, Central Denmark Region and Aarhus Municipality host an International "Field Trip" conference. Learn about local perspectives on volunteering within areas such as social welfare, business and rural areas across the region, meet citizens and discuss how to implement these perspectives.

December 5th

Closing conference

The conference will debate and share the experiences and knowledge in our year as European Volunteering Capital in 2018. Volunteers, organisations, businesses, municipality and region have collaborated in new constellations. We have heightened social welfare and contributed to local communities and the region.
