

Independent life at home

A close-up photograph of a person's hands. The left hand is holding a white tablet, and the right hand is holding a pair of black-rimmed glasses. The person is wearing a blue and white plaid shirt. In the background, a silver laptop is visible on a wooden desk, and a green plant is out of focus. The text is overlaid on the lower half of the image.

"Welfare technology ties independence to dignity".
-Kåre Hagen-

"A nation's greatness is measured by how it treats it's weakest members."

- Mahatma Ghandi -

Benefits for all - the right medicine at the right time

- Patient safety
- Patient well-being
- Reduced/postponed costs
- Time management of carework

Evondos service

Evondos E300 medicine dispensing robot in home care client's home

Pre-packed medicines from local pharmacies

Evondos Telecare system for nurses and relatives

Messaging for more interaction

Evondos is used in over 80 municipalities in Nordic

Benefits for all

- Patient safety
- Patient well-being
- Reduced/postponed costs
- Time management of carework

Automated dose dispensing comes with many benefits

- more hygienic and error-free dispensing
- no manual processes
- process includes medication assessment
- medicine compatibility controlled
- client saves in cost
- lower unit cost/pill
- suits for short term testing of new medication

Cost savings for the municipalities

Røyken

Saved visits/robot/month:

Saved driving distance:

Dag Einar (44): "In the past, I was so annoyed when the nurses woke me up in the morning and asked me to take the medicine right away. Now I get up and have time to wake up before taking my medicine."

Nurse: "When users manage to take the medication on their own, it happens that they start to master other tasks too".

"Before, nurses visited me four times a day to give me my medicines. It felt like the nurses were here all the time and it disturbed me.

With the dispensing robot I can take my medicines independently."

- Niilo 81, Vantaa -

«The green button is glowing when it's time to take my medicine.

This is the best thing that has happened to me after I got sick».

-Gun Granås,
Parkinson's disease-

The right medicine at the right time

evondos®